

THE PIANO

As I sit at the old piano memories race through my head then I turn around and I see my wife in ghost form. She glides over to me and sits next to me on the piano. Then we start playing her favourite song.